

and Toxicology. 2002. V/ 43. No. 3. P. 0364. DOI: <https://doi.org/10.1007/s00244-002-1210-7>.

19. Lee S., Kim S., Lee H.K. et al. Contamination of polychlorinated biphenyls and organochlorine pesticides in breast milk in Korea: Time-course variation, influencing factors, and exposure assessment // Chemosphere. 2013. V. 93. P. 1578. DOI: <http://dx.doi.org/10.1016/j.chemosphere.2013.08.011>.
20. Mamontova E.A., Tarasova E.N., Kuz'min M.I. et al. // Gigiena i sanitariya [Hygiene and sanitation]. 2010. No. 1. P. 35 [in Russian].
21. Sergeyev O., Shelepchikov A., Denisova T. et al. POPs in human milk in Chapaevsk, Russia, five years following cessation of chemical manufacturing and decade of remediation program, pilot study // Organohalogen Compounds. 2008. V. 70. P. 1946.
22. Madykova J.A. Contamination of cow's milk with organochlorine pesticides in the Osh Province, Kyrgyzstan // Proceedings of 29th Annual Sci. Conf. International Society of Environmental Epidemiology (ISEE 2017). Sydney, Australia, 2017.
23. Toichuev R.M. Adverse effects of pesticide deposit sites Ak-Chabyr and Tash-Baka located in Bazar-Korgon and Suzak districts of Zhalal-Abad region (Kyrgyz Republic) on the population health and biota // Proceedings of the 11th HCH and Pesticides International forum, 7-9 September 2011, Azerbaijan.
24. Shtenberg A.I. Residual content of pesticides in food products. M.: Meditsyna, 1973. 181 p. [in Russian].